Companies Ride the E-Gov Wave

This year's list of top government information technology providers contains some regular faces and several rising stars as many companies continue to grow through acquisitions, while others divest unwanted units. Charts show the the last seven years of companies that made the top 10, deals that are reshaping the federal market and contracts worth watching.

The Top 20

Profiles of Washington Technology's top 20 federal prime contractors in IT reveal their revenue, future plans and goals, teaming partners and competitors, and analysts' critiques.

The Rest

Companies 21 to 100 are listed in numerical order and include address, Web site and total value of contracts won.
