Why add a beneficiary?

By adding a beneficiary to your retirement account, you're making sure the balance goes where you want — whether that's to a loved one or a charitable organization you support. You could even name multiple beneficiaries and set specific percentages for each.

How do I add one?

This simple but important step is easy to do. Benefits OnLine will walk you through it, or you can download a form to complete and send back (it's in the Documents section and includes instructions). For each beneficiary, you'll need their name, date of birth (if applicable), Social Security/tax identification number, and address.

Already have a beneficiary?

Take a few minutes to make sure it's current and reflects any recent life or relationship changes. Need some more information about naming your beneficiary? Visit go.ml.com/BenePopout.
