Notes received from Softchoice employees!

May God continue to bless you and your family Mr. Steward. Thank you for making the time to share your spirit. Reminding us we are all reflections of the almighty, deserving to love one another. I am spreading this inspiration to all of those at Softchoice that have missed the opportunity to share in your vision. I am so touched and proud to be part of your organization. (Alison)

Thank you David for a very inspirational heart to heart talk, I deeply enjoyed it, especially your stressing on the important role faith plays in making dreams come true…your words brought me to tears as I relate on many levels both in my professional and personal lives. Really thank you! (Maysoun)

I am not sure if you, personally, will receive this message (as I would think you have an army of people to manage your communications) and I do not expect a response at all, but I wanted to at least take a moment to express my appreciation to you.

I want you to just THANK you for joining the Fireside chat at Softchoice this week with Andrew. You are such a faithful soldier for Christ and I found it so incredibly inspiring to hear you speaking about your journey and how your beliefs shaped your personal and professional life in the early days of WWT and during the continued growth of the organization.

As a senior leader, for several decades, I have been hesitant to share that I'm a Christian in the course of my professional walk (especially in Canada) - even though the fact that my faith and the good Lord has blessed me with the opportunity to be successful as a leader, a wife, and a Mother. I've always strived to work hard, challenge and expect "excellence" from my people, be the compassionate caregiver and practice all the fruits of the Spirit in my daily walk at work. I think we will all sleep a little more deeply in the days to come and be a little less afraid to admit, when the time is right and in appropriate forums, how our faith drives us to be high performing and contributing members of the WWT community. You are an incredible example of witnessing in the work environment (respectfully and where it makes sense) - I imagine you have brought many people to Jesus over the years. Thank you for your honesty and your transparency…and being a light for Christ!! (Ramona)

David, I know you don’t know me yet, but I wanted to thank you for that fireside chat. I recently lost my husband in August of last year from a massive heart attack. I’m 57 and didn’t expected to be alone so early, but God is right here with me every day and I trust Him to see me through like He always has. I was raised in a rich family of God with many pastors; we had to pick two to marry us because I couldn’t decide! I just wanted to thank you because I’ve never been involved in a workplace that honors God and all that He means to me and so clearly means to you. I was already saying the Bible verses before you could say them once you said the passage because I knew right where you were going. I feel so at home here at WWT and you just took all my fears away to know that I work for an honest, ethical, and loving home of employment. I plan to attend the prayer calls so thank you for sharing that link! God bless and remember our veterans on Monday in your prayers. Thank you so much! (Sue)

Thank you so much for visiting us at the Softchoice office. It was truly a privilege to have you with us.

I want you to know that your story moved me deeply. As I listened to the challenges you've faced and the sacrifices you've made to keep your business moving forward, I found myself genuinely emotional — your journey resonated with me in ways I didn't expect. So many of the themes you touched on hit close to home. Life has a way of testing us, and yet through everything you've described, you've maintained your strength, your positivity, and your resolve. That is something truly remarkable. I left our meeting feeling inspired. You are an extraordinary person, David, and I'm grateful our paths have crossed. (Dorothy)
